

We can't wait for you to watch our fourth Gender Spectrum Story Time featuring illustrator Justin Lowe reading Hello, My Name is Octicorn!

This wonderful book, written by Kevin Dillon and illustrated by Justin Lowe, is not only entertaining, but also tells a story with an important message of kindness and friendship. Reading this book with little ones is a perfect way to spark discussion about being unique in this world, and can be a great way to bring up the topic of gender with the children in your life! If you would like tips for addressing the topic with children, check out our brief backgrounder on Talking with Young Children about Gender.

Also, be sure to check out our previous Story Times:

The Boy & the Bindi

Who Are You? The Kids Guide to Gender Identity

One of a Kind Like Me/Unico Como Yo.