Gender and Its Dimensions: Programs on Gender for Everyone

We all want all children to reach their full potential, but rather than empowering children and youth to bring their full creativity and passion to their communities, rigid gender stereotypes place obstacles in their way and limit their possibilities. At Gender Spectrum, we create safe, caring spaces where all children can learn, grow, and play to their fullest capacity, regardless of their gender.

Check this page throughout the month of November, as we will be adding a wide variety of online programs that highlight the dimensions and diversity of gender. Only by understanding the richness of gender can we begin to dismantle the harmful gendering we impose on children, often unintentionally. November marks Transgender Awareness Week, and starting on Monday November 13 we will post a full week of programs exploring transgender, Non-binary and Gender-expansive lives. Whether you are a parent, a family member or friend, a professional who works with children, or a young person yourself, everyone will find something on this page to entertain, surprise, educate, or amuse you. Enjoy!

Navigating the Holidays

If you will be visiting with family who may not know about your gender-expansive child this holiday season, check out this video with information and tips for managing challenging family dynamics. We hope you have a healthy, Happy Thanksgiving!
Transgender Awareness Week

From November 13 through November 20, Gender Spectrum is joining other organizations and individuals from across the country for Transgender Awareness Week, a time to help raise the visibility of transgender, non-binary and gender-expansive people and highlight the joys and challenges facing the community. We are excited about our Transgender Awareness programs, including:

Talks with Non-Binary YouTubers

In this series of three short videos, you will hear from Spencer Adams, Ashley Wylde and Kevin Ninh, three non-binary young people who discuss gender and how it impacts their lives, relationships and their creativity.
